

Alvarion Verification labs used for many year Word documents for alpha/integration tests procedures. This method prevent for our team to track tests progress , follow up open bugs of version, at the same time getting a clear picture of version readiness and tests status in real time was time consuming and hard to obtained.

After examining possible option on the market, we were introduced to Orcanos Company and their product lifecycle management tool – the QPack™ system. Orcanos and QPack™ system are the ultimate solution for us; Orcanos managers helped us with professional experience on the methodology and with system customization to our needs. Orcanos not just selling the product but also making sure that you are getting the best of it by supporting the penetration of such system to Alvarion all the way. QPack™ indeed fulfill Alvarion needs and give us as managers a real time view of report and status with a click of a button!
